The above discussion is provided for general information. For more specific information concerning water rights, please contact an attorney or Water Rights in California, and (3) Appropriation of Water in California.

Water to this office. We have several pamphlets available. They include: (1) Statements of Water Division and Use, (2) Information Pertaining to Specific Water Rights in California, and (3) Appropriation of Water in California.

State specific Water Division and Use must be filed by riparian and pre 1914 appropriative water users as set forth in Water Code section 5100 with specific exceptions. The filing of a statement (1) provides a record of water use, (2) enables the State to determine if additional water is available for future purposes a new appropriation upstream from their use, and (3) assists the State to notify such users if someone proposes a new appropriation upstream from their use.

An appropriate right is required for use of water, "foreign" to the natural stream system. Only when there is a surplus not needed by riparian water users. Since 1914, new appropriators have been required to obtain a permit and license from the State. Appropriate rights can be granted to waters, "foreign" to the natural stream system.

A riparian right is a right to the natural land and for storage of water. Generally, appropriate rights may be exercised only when the riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water, or other "foreign" water to the natural stream system.

Riparian rights may be used to divert water previously stored by others, return flows from use of groundwater, or other "foreign" water to the natural stream system.

Riparian rights may be used to divert the natural flow of a stream but may not be used to store water for later use or divert water which originates in riparian rights to the riparian parcel. Generally, a riparian user must share the water supply with other riparian users.

The same watershed as the water source and must never have been severed from the sources of supply by an intervening parcel without reservation of the riparian right to the severed parcel.

There are two principal types of surface water rights in California. They are riparian and appropriative rights.
